RJ Martin Unveils New Electrical Services Subsidiaries

CLEVELAND, Ohio – November 3, 2009 – RJ Martin (www.rjmartin.net), a single source electrical contracting firm servicing commercial, institutional and industrial organizations, today announced the formation of three new subsidiaries – RJ Martin Electrical Contracting, RJ Martin Electrical Services and RJ Martin National Contracting. Under the direction of the firm’s new management team, these subsidiaries align customer needs and further capitalize on the firm’s more than 20 years of best practices in electrical services.

RJ Martin Electrical Contracting and RJ Martin Electrical Services will focus on the firm’s existing and new Ohio-based contracts, while RJ Martin National Contracting will service new contracts out of the firm’s Charleston, South Carolina office, as well as new national accounts.

In August, RJ Martin engaged new management to strengthen its leadership position and bring the management of the business back into the family. Led by President Robert J. Martin, Jr., the 120 employees, who share in the ownership of RJ Martin, have delivered more than $200 million of high quality electrical services since its founding in 1987.

“We are excited about the future of RJ Martin,” said Martin. “With these new subsidiaries, we will continue to build our services, capitalize on our best practices, and expand our footprint so that we are poised to meet our customer’s electrical needs - today and into the future. Energy management continues to be a significant business driver for our customers. A key focus of our new services will be targeted toward energy efficient lighting processes,” continued Martin. Currently, RJ Martin provides energy efficient lighting retrofit services to industrial organizations. Projects are installed with no initial capital and achieve an immediate positive cash flow.

Licensed in 21 states, RJ Martin has deep expertise across a variety of industries, including national retail stores, educational buildings, hotels, and manufacturing facilities. The majority of its employees are certified journeymen with experience in communication systems, energy management, fire alarm and security systems, electrical construction and supervision.

As an Employee Stock Ownership Plan (ESOP) organization, RJ Martin customers benefit from competitive value, the ability to work around the country unimpeded and the highest level of customer service from knowledgeable and experienced professionals.
